BOOZE BANNED AT WORK PARTIES

By MILES PLATTING

KILLJOYS say that bosses should limit alcohol at all work bashes, to prevent employees "acting inappropriately".

And figures show that woke snowflake staffers aged 16-30 are leading the demands that work social events are not fun-filled booze-ups.

A poll released by the Chartered Management Institute suggests a third of managers have seen inappropriate behaviour at parties.

NHS trumps woke issues for Starmer

SIR Keir Starmer has told his top team that 'woke' issues do not matter to the public as he tries to build on Labour's success in last week's local elections.

The opposition leader believes the Tories have made a 'major strategic blunder' in thinking voters care more about such matters than the cost of living and the NHS. But critics rounded on his dismissal of 'woke' concerns weeks after he provoked a row by struggling to define what a woman is.

Sir Keir told his top team that last week's local election results, in which the Tories lost more than 1,000 seats, showed the public is not interested in waging a war on woke. "The NHS trumps woke every day of the week," he said.

A Labour source said: "Keir believes the Tories have made a strategic blunder."

Weed linked to mental issues

YOUNG men who are heavy weed smokers could have a higher risk for developing schizophrenia, according to a new study.

The research found a shocking 30% of schizophrenia cases in men aged 21 to 30 could have been avoided if they'd ditched weed.

The study states in 2021, cannabis addiction played an integral role in 15% of cases in men aged 16 to 49, and in 4% of cases affecting women.

According to the Centers for Disease Control, misuse of cannabis affects three in 10 marijuana smokers.

Isolated Russia's Victory Day parade... EVIL PUTIN'S SHOW OF STRENGTH

VLADIMIR Putin addressed his country's Victory Day parade on Moscow's Red Square, claiming that Russia wants peace while accusing the 'western elite' of waging a 'real war' against his forces in Ukraine.

Yesterday's speech, watched by hundreds of soldiers, military officials and leaders of former Soviet nations, came just hours after another barrage of cruise missiles hit several sites across the border to the west.

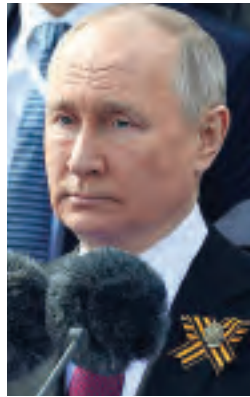

"Today civilisation is once again at a decisive turning point. A real war has been unleashed against our Motherland," he said in a reference to his invasion that the Kremlin portrays as being a proxy conflict with the West. He welcomed soldiers fighting in Ukraine who were present at the parade, and framed his on-going illegal invasion as being akin to the Soviet fight against Nazi Germany in the Second World War, which came to an end 78 years ago – a false narrative that has resonated at home.

"To Russia! To our brave armed forces! To Victory!" Putin concluded the speech.

In a major coup for the Kremlin, at least six post-Soviet leaders travelled to attend the military parade that fetes the Soviet victory in 1945.

Dozens of military vehicles - including armoured personnel carriers, trucks and intercontinental ballistic missile launchers – also rolled through the city.

COPS SOZ OVER ANTI-KING ARRESTS

THE Metropolitan Police has expressed "regret" over the arrests of six anti-monarchy protesters on Coronation day.

Republic chief executive Graham Smith, who was among the group, said he has now received a personal apology from police officers.

He said he did not accept the apology and would take legal action after no charges were brought against him.

The Met also confirmed it had used

By COLIN HURST

news@sundaysport.co.uk

a controversial new law to detain the group.

Mr Smith said a chief inspector and two other officers visited his Reading home on Monday evening to issue the apology.

He said: "They seemed rather embarrassed to be honest.

"I said for the record I won't accept the apology. We have a lot of questions to answer and we will be taking action."

Mr Smith earlier said he wanted a "full inquiry" into the "disgraceful episode".

Illegal

The Met said a review found there was no proof the six protesters, who were detained near the procession route, were planning to "lock on", a protesting tactic which is now banned.

Recent changes to the law, passed last week, make it illegal for protesters to use equipment to secure themselves to things like railings.

The Met said the six were detained after items were found in a vehicle which cops "had reasonable grounds to believe could be used as lock on devices".

But the force said it was "unable to prove intent to use them to lock on and disrupt the event".

One man in the group was also arrested for possession of a knife or pointed article. The Met said it was "not clear at the time" to the arresting officers that "at least one of the group stopped had been engaging with police" about holding a lawful protest prior to the Coronation.

"We regret that those six people arrested were unable to join the wider group of protesters in Trafalgar Square and elsewhere on the procession route," a statement continued.

House prices down £1,000

THE average house price fell by about £1,000 in April, following three months of increases.

Across the UK, the typical property value fell by 0.3% month-on-month, taking it to £286,896 in April, the Halifax said.

In cash terms, this was a £995 decrease compared with an average house price of £287,891 in March.

Halifax said it expects to see further downward pressure on house prices over the course of this year.

Kim Kinnaird, director at Halifax Mortgages, said: "After three months of growth, the average UK house price fell in April by around £1,000 over the month."

"House price inflation also slowed further to 0.1%, from 1.6% in March."

"A typical property now costs £286,896, which is around £7,000 below last summer's peak."

Return of 100% mortgage deals

A DEPOSIT-free mortgage for people currently renting has been launched by a UK building society.

While a handful of other no-deposit deals are available, they all need the financial backing of family or friends.

Skipton Building Society says while its deal requires 12 months of on-time rental payments and a good credit history, it does not need a guarantor.

A campaign group said while no-deposit deals could help, the lack of affordable homes is key.

Generation Rent says the shortage of properties within the budget of first-time buyers remains a major stumbling block.

NEVER mind the King. Forget the Queen. Even the radiant Princess of Wales was put in the shade.

There was only one star of Saturday's Coronation...Penny Mordaunt.

The Leader of the House of Commons was in attendance as holder of the ancient title Lord President of the Privy Council.

The Lord President's Coronation job was to walk in front of the monarch holding a sword – a task which Penny, 50, carried out with some aplomb.

Never, in the history of Twitter, has a Tory politician received such universal praise.

Social media went into a frenzy as the MP appeared, like some form of space goddess with a fantasy magic sword.

Leader

But, of course, some people went TOO FAR!

Within minutes, fiends used space age technology to create a FAKE picture of Ms Mordaunt holding the sword aloft in her UNDERWEAR!

One outraged courtier said: "The title goes back to the days of Henry VIII. There is no need for disrespectful FILTH like this!"

By SIMON DEAN

simon@sundaysport.co.uk

Labour MPs Emily Thornberry and Sir Chris Bryant both tweeted their approval.

Ms Mordaunt, a Royal Navy reservist, later tweeted with humility: "Honoured to be part of the Coronation with thousands of others who played their part."

"I'm very aware that many others have been marching or standing for hours as part of the ceremony or to keep us all safe. In comparison, my job was rather easier."

Political commentators now say that because she held a sword so well, Penny will be next Tory leader when Rishi gets the boot.

Beyonce will rake in £1.6bn from touring

BEYONCE'S upcoming Renaissance World Tour could earn the singer £1.6BILLION.

US business mag Forbes said this is based on "optimistic" assumptions on the number of fans buying tickets and an average ticket price of £555.

The estimates also assume artists take home a "considerable share" of merchandise proceeds and pay tour expenses of 20% of revenues.

The tour is due to kick off in Stockholm on May 10, and will be Beyonce's first world tour in seven years.

The singer (above) is set to play several UK dates, including London's Tottenham Hotspur stadium, Cardiff's Principality Stadium, Murrayfield in Edinburgh, and Sunderland's Stadium of Light.

Forbes estimated Taylor Swift's ongoing The Eras Tour at £1.5bn.

THEY'RE the ultimate power couple - Vogue magazine ice queen Anna Wintour and smooth Brit actor Bill Nighy.

The pair arrived on the red carpet at the posh Met Gala in New York, sparking rumours that, despite both being 73, they were at it like ferrets.

Gentleman Bill defended her honour though and denied rumours of a romance with Dame Anna.

A representative for Nighy said: "Bill and Anna have simply been great friends for two decades. They are not in a relationship."

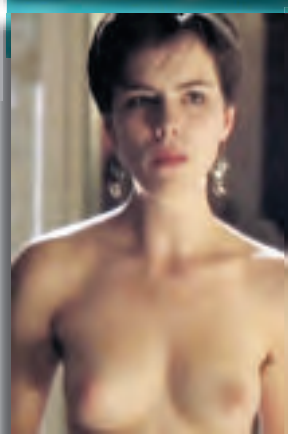

Romance rumours were earlier sparked when they were spotted enjoying dinner in Italy in 2021.

The pair were also seen watching his film Living, for which he was nominated for an Oscar, at several screenings in New York last year.

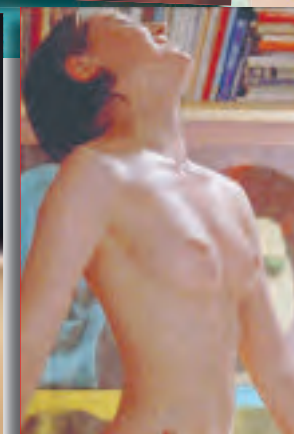

But Bill is no stranger to the company of famous, glam ladies.

He's been in some of the biggest films of recent years, alongside some absolute corks.

Demon Head star Terrence passes at 86

ACTOR Terrence Hardiman, best known for playing the title role in the CBBC series The Demon Headmaster, has died at the age of 86, his agent said.

Terrence's death was announced "with great sadness" by Scott Marshall Partners, which said he was a "beloved client and much-loved stage and screen actor".

Hardiman (above) terrified a generation of children with his chilling performance in the TV series based on the children's books of the same name by Gillian Cross.

The drama was first broadcast between 1996 and 1998.

His imposing figure hid his piercing green eyes behind dark glasses – only removing them to hypnotise his victims.

He reprised his role for a cameo when the series was rebooted by CBBC in 2019.

The stage and screen star also appeared in The Crown, Wallander and Doctor Who.

Dad witnesses 'decapitation'

A DOCTOR delivering a baby allegedly ripped the newborn's head off her body during childbirth in front of the horrified dad.

The shocking incident occurred at the Hospital das Clinicas da UFMG, in Belo Horizonte, Brazil.

Ranielly Coelho Santos, 33, was hospitalised and her labour was induced before the unidentified obstetrician called the father in to observe the birth more closely.

The doctor put pressure on the mum's belly, tried to remove the baby's body quickly and "ripped off the child's head," the devastated dad told police.

He told investigators he saw the baby blinking and moving its mouth, which he said was proof she was alive at the time.

The family, of Ribeiras das Neves, on the outskirts of Belo Horizonte, filed a complaint to police.

They said a hospital social worker told them the facility would cover the burial costs, but only if they agreed to sign a waiver.

BOOZY PAIR ARE BOOTED OUT FOR BLOWJOB IN BAR

CHARGED:
Steven Brown and Shonda Clark were filmed by customers in the bar

A COUPLE were arrested after they indulged in oral sex in a bar – while being filmed by customers.

Pissed Shonda Clark and Steven Brown were booted out of the Beer Co boozer in Bowling Green, Kentucky, after managers spotted Clark sucking Brown's Johnson.

But once outside, the couple started having a furious row, with each blaming the other for being thrown out of the pub – and the police were called.

Cops say they arrived to find two people screaming and yelling at each other on the pavement outside the bar.

Clark, 47, of Alvaton, and Brown, 49, of Glasgow, were identified as the two.

Bystanders, who had earlier been filming the blowjob, were also filming the disturbance on the pavement, according to arrest reports for the pair.

A video posted to social media platform TikTok appeared to show the two engaging in a sex act at the establishment prior to law enforcement's arrival.

The video was later removed. Police noted in the citation how the owner of the bar told them the two were "attempting to engage in sex acts in the bar but were stopped" after which they were thrown out.

FORMER PM TO VISIT TAIWAN FLASHPOINT...

DON'T WORRY, SHE'LL MOST LIKELY END UP IN THAILAND

WAR with China is a step closer today, after it was announced former prime minister Liz Truss will visit Taiwan next week to give a speech to show "solidarity" with the self-governed island.

Ms Truss is also expected to meet Taiwan government officials.

During her time as prime minister Ms Truss was expected to move the UK Government on to a more hawkish footing when it came to dealings with Beijing, wanting to declare China a "threat" to national security.

However, her brief time in Downing Street – cut short to only 44 days after her mini-Budget impact on the markets last year saw confidence in her premiership collapse – meant her update to the UK's foreign policy position didn't happen.

Instead, her successor Rishi Sunak chose not to go as far, updating the UK's integrated review on foreign and defence policy in March to describe China as representing an "epoch-defining and systemic challenge".

Foreign Secretary James Cleverly, who is visiting the US this week, has previously said that isolating China would be a "sign of weakness".

On Friday, he said that he raised the issue of Taiwan, and broached what is happening in Hong Kong and Xinjiang, during pre-coronation talks with Chinese vice-president Han Zheng.

In her speech next week, Ms Truss is expected to issue a rallying cry in the face of Chinese and Taiwanese tension.

Last night a Foreign Office source said: "Going by her previous record, the daft bint will most likely end up in Thailand."

Sex Ed firm apology for fetish links

AN organisation that provides sex education lessons in PRIMARY schools has apologised for posting links on its website to "regrettable" material about fetishes and sex toys.

The School of Sexuality Education has worked with about 300 primary and secondary schools to host age-appropriate workshops on sex and relationships.

But it's now in a legal dispute with Clare Page, a mum from Deptford, south London.

When Clare looked online at their team of "facilitators", she found web links that showed some of the people hosting the lessons had commercial interests in the sex industry, such as selling sex toys and promoting porn.

One teacher called themselves a "master fetish trainer".

Ms Page asked her daughter's school, Haberdashers' Hatcham College in New Cross, south London, who had taught a sex education lesson to the teen, and what it entailed.

When she was turned down, she appealed to the Information Commissioner's Office, which also rejected her request, saying it was commercially sensitive and a copyright matter.

The decision to keep the identities of people teaching children about sex secret from parents was also defended at a tribunal appeal.

However, Dolly Padalia, the chief exec of the School of Sexuality Education, admitted it was "regrettable" that any children who saw its website were only a couple of clicks from sexually explicit content about adult topics, such as sex toys, bondage and anal masturbation.

Turbines 'linked' to wale deaths

DRILLING foundations for offshore wind turbines and sound pulses used to prepare for the 900ft towers may be creating a "death zone" for whales, a former Greenpeace chief claims.

Patrick Moore, a co-founder of Greenpeace and its ex-president in Canada, believes the acoustic systems used by vessels surveying the ocean floor harm the marine mammals' sense of hearing - risking their crucial ability to navigate, and leading to more dead whales washing up on our shores.

His intervention comes after four minke whale corpses were discovered between last week in New York and New England.

Moore said that survey work - which uses acoustic pulses to scan the seabed ahead of drilling for the turbines - could be risky for whales.

He explained: "The effect of the high-intensity acoustic pulses is unknown, and the excavations are muddying waters for what will be years on end."

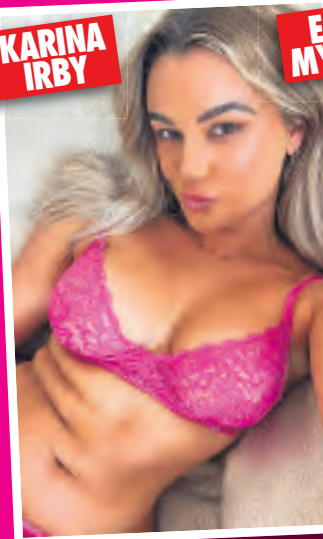

"It's not unreasonable to say there is no possibility of a causal relationship."

SPORTS MISS FINGERED TEEN GIRL

By NELSON SAUVIN news@sundaysport.co.uk

A FEMALE teacher and football coach has been convicted of sex offences against a teen student who she considered her 'little sister'.

Leith Dianne Woods was on trial defending claims she committed multiple sex offences, including indecently handling and sexually penetrating the 16-year-old while she was a teacher at the school.

Feelings

The court was told the pair first met outside of school when the girl was in Year 10 and Woods was a coach for a women's football team.

Woods became her teacher at school later that year.

But it wasn't until 2012 – after they went away on a non-school sporting trip – that things changed and the pair began a 'secret relationship of sorts'.

Prosecutors say the relationship could not be consensual because Woods was in a position of authority, being a teacher at the girl's school.

Woods admitted she knew her actions were wrong but continued with the relationship as she'd never had feelings for a female before.

"I've had several male partners. But I felt companionship with her. I felt love," Woods said.

In her evidence, the victim, who is now in her 20s, said after their first sexual encounter on the trip she called Woods to apologise because she knew the position she had placed her in.

She then testified Woods replied "don't be silly" and that she did not regret it.

The victim said from that after that point the pair 'engaged in sexual activity wherever we could' and detailed the encounters that took place over the course of her final year at school.

Woods denied the pair met weekly to engage in sexual activity or that any of it took place on school camps.

Woods admitted to six charges and was acquitted of nine others.

But the jury, in Perth, Western Australia, found her guilty of one charge – another sexual penetration offence that occurred at Woods' home.

She will be sentenced later.

Strike halts final Stranger Things

NETFLIX hit Stranger Things has suspended production for its fifth and final season because of the Hollywood script writers' strike.

Creators Matt and Ross Duffer tweeted, "Writing does not stop when filming begins. While we're excited to start production with our amazing cast and crew, it is not possible during this strike."

"We hope a fair deal is reached soon so we can all get back to work."

Production for the final eight episodes of Netflix's hit series was due to start this month.

The much-anticipated season was to wrap up Stranger Things' epic story of the battle between good and evil, waged between a ragtag group of kids in the USA, and the Upside Down monsters in an alternate dimension.

FLORENCE Pugh shocked fans by showing off her new buzzcut at this year's Met Gala.

The star attended the fashion event in New York, and onlookers gasped at Flo's daring new look.

A new brand ambassador for Italian fashion house Valentino, Florence opted for a daring, cut-out black and white dress, teamed with a black feathered headpiece from the iconic fashion group.

The actress explained she had kept her newly shaved head a secret for nearly a month and that it was part of the look for upcoming movie We Live in Time.

"It was required for the job that I happily wanted to do and I thought what is the best way to release it to the world than at the Met," she said.

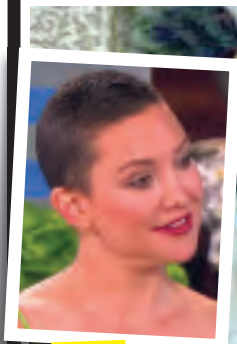

"I've been keeping it under wraps for about three weeks now," she added.

"I'm very happy to have it here with this look, it makes everything perfect."

Alas, we don't know if her downstairs hair matches her crowning glory.

Hot Jameela too shy for sex scenes

JAMEELA Jamil has revealed she pulled her audition for the fourth season of You because she didn't want to film sexy scenes.

The She-Hulk: Attorney at Law actress opened up about why she doesn't "do sex scenes" during an episode of the Podcrushed podcast, hosted by actor Penn Badgley, Nava Kavelin and Sophie Ansari.

Jameela said she was supposed to audition for the Netflix series, but when she learned her "character was supposed to be quite sexy," she "pulled out, because I am so shy about anything sexy that I can't."

The Good Place brought up Badgley's past comments on fewer sex scenes in crime-drama series.

"And then you fking came out and was like, 'Yeah, I'm not doing sex scenes anymore...,'" Jameela said.

"And I was like, 'Fking hell, I didn't even know that was a boundary we drew. That's fantastic.'"

A 27-YEAR-OLD man was jailed after he was caught furiously masturbating watching a ballet class.

Cavell Chua Ke Qin pleaded guilty to one charge of committing an indecent act in public.

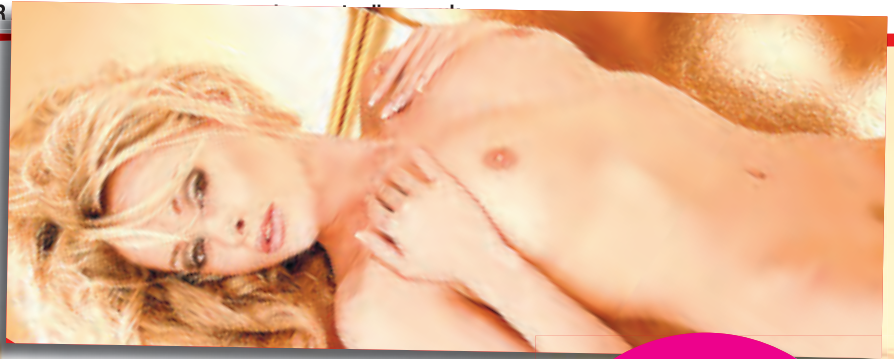

He was first seen behaving suspiciously on 22 July 2021, in a dance studio in Singapore, where he often went to watch young women practise ballet while masturbating.

A 17-year-old student was waiting for her father when she saw Chua masturbating.

A staff member later reported an "unidentified Chinese man" engaging in obscene acts.

During questioning, Chua admitted to masturbating in the dance studio - where most students were teenagers - once or twice a week.

Judge Bay sentenced him to three weeks in jail.

A TENNIS star's girlfriend has hit back over claims she injured him by having 'too much sex' with him.

Matteo Berrettini is one of the best players in the world at the moment, but the Italian has been sidelined recently with an abdominal strain.

Clearly trying to stir the pot, fans have now come up with a wild theory as to how the Italian sustained the oblique strain.

Sexism

Fingers are being pointed at Berrettini's model girlfriend Melissa Satta, with supporters suggesting his injuries were caused by having 'too much sex'.

"Too bad it's an injury in the same place as the one in 2021, when I didn't know him," Satta said in regards to her partner's injury woes.

She also claimed she has been the subject of "bullying and sexism".

Fans accuse model of crocking tennis star with SEX

"I receive a lot of messages of insults, bullying and sexism," she said.

"I have chosen to be a public figure, and I accept being exposed and exposing myself on social media, but I'm just trying to have a romantic relationship with another person. I simply want to try to be happy too."

Unfortunately, Satta is no stranger to these sorts of accusations.

While she was married to former footballer Kevin Prince Boateng, she dealt with a bunch of similar claims.

"The proof that sexism has been and still is there – it's always women who distract men."

"And if it's a woman who loses, then it's what she eats, not a man."

Fart puts six in hospital

A HIGH school pupil sent six of his pals to hospital after using an intensely putrid "fart spray".

The student owned up to the foul prank after fire fighters and hazardous response teams spent three days investigating reports of "a smell of gas" at the school.

After evacuating all students, first responders scoured the building with gas detectors but were unable to locate any leaks.

Students returned, in spite of the lingering odour, after the prankster confessed.

Six students from Caney Creek, Tennessee were hospitalized after suffering severe headaches from the smell. At least eight others reported feeling ill.

ROADSIDE ONLYFANS AD BRINGS IN CASH

A TATTOOED OnlyFans model whose roadside billboard sparked community outrage has revealed she made a fortune from the ad.

Savannah, also known as WC Savage, displayed herself across a large billboard in early April.

The risqué ad prompted fierce backlash from parents and residents with 350 complaints made to advertising watchdogs.

But Savannah had the last laugh – being allowed to keep the billboard up and also making an eye-watering sum of money.

She claimed that since the billboard appeared, she made £80k in the first week.

"My plan is to retire when I'm 40," she said.

The ad was set up on the billboard at a road junction in Perth, Western Australia.

Savannah has since decided to remove the advertisement.

She will replace the original ad with a QR code that leads people to a clothing charity.

A HOTEL night manager was arrested after he sneaked into a man's room and sucked on his TOES.

David Neal, 52, crept into the male guest's room while he was sleeping and got intimate with his feet.

Cops say Neal made a key card to get into the room and entered early in the morning.

He recognized Neal as one of the hotel employees who came into his room the day before to fix his TV.

Neal admitted he had entered the room at the Nashville Hilton, Tennessee, but claimed he smelled smoke and wanted to make sure the guest was OK.

Police said there were no other reports of smelling smoke.

He was arrested at his home and charged with aggravated burglary and assault.

HEIDI Klum and her daughter Leni Klum might be setting their own version of mother-daughter goals, as they've just dropped their latest lingerie campaign.

The duo fronted a new photoshoot for the Italian lingerie label Intimissimi, and shared a selection of photos on Instagram.

The 49-year-old model captioned the photos: "Yiiiiiiiiiiiiiiiiii our new @intimissimiofficial campaign is here!"

Topless

"If you see me and @leniklum on billboards all over Germany... tag us and we'll share our favorites!"

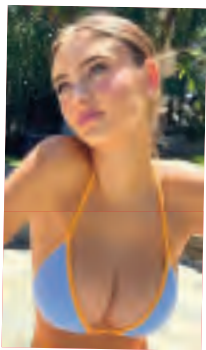

The Klums copped stick a for the campaign, with users dubbing it 'inappropriate'.

Heidi has since turned off her comments.

Here at Midweek Sport, our only comment is WOW!

And while Heidi and Leni have not gone topless kin the campaign, there are plenty of mum-daughter duos who HAVE got them out.

Talk about the apple not falling far from the tree...

#MY SEX FANTASY

...WITH KEIRA
MOON, 36D,
FROM TOWER HAMLETS,
EAST LONDON

MY wildest fantasy is swinging with my current boyfriend – it's something we've never tried but who knows, maybe we will!

I've only been with my fella a few months so we haven't explored everything in the bedroom together yet.

But I'm very open minded, and so is he.

I love the idea of us finding another couple to play with, meeting them and then after the build-up, having wild sex as a foursome.

It would just be sex, with no emotions.

There would be something really liberating about it all, I reckon.

Us Brits are too uptight about sex, I think. Yes, it can be really special and meaningful, but it can also be just a physical release and good, clean fun.

I was watching a documentary about it, and it's right up my street. I fancy girls, too, so I'd be game to get down and dirty with another guy and girl!

It would be the best of both worlds!

I wouldn't feel jealous of my partner getting it on with another woman. In fact, it would be a real turn on to watch. I'd hope he'd get a thrill watching another guy do me as well!

I'm not totally sure how to broach the subject with my man. I suppose I could just leave this newspaper open at this article on the coffee table for him to see.

That would pretty much spell it out to him, I'd say!

'I'd be game to get down 'n' dirty with another girl and a hot guy'

Tranny flasher too FAT to get 'her' cock out

A GUTBUCKET posing as a woman had not have flashed in a women's changing room, a judge ruled... because fat hid his COCK!

Darren Glines, who now goes by Rachel, was found not guilty of three counts of indecent exposure at the YMCA changing room in Xenia, Ohio.

Judge David McNamee cleared Glines after agreeing that the size of his belly meant it would be impossible for anyone to see any genitals.

Glines, 31, has been the subject of several complaints dating back to 2021 – with people complaining they saw a 'naked male in the female locker room.'

One of the complaints stated that there were three juveniles present during the incident, with a woman going to the front desk to report the issue.

But she was reassured by a worker that it was 'actually a woman' and that she 'shouldn't have been disturbed'.

Fact me!

THE Sahara Desert is only 25% sand – the rest is rocks.

Police called to GOATS in street brawl

COPS who were called to a "fight in progress" found two feisty goats butting heads in the middle of a suburban street.

The goats were heard bawling by neighbours in the quiet town of Palatka, Florida, where a resident called cops.

Officers captured the horned hotheads with rope then tracked down their owners the following day, according to a Facebook post by the department.

"The suspects were pretty Maaaadd at one another and the fight escalated into the yards of nearby residences.

"Both were pretty hard-headed, but officers managed to separate, wrangle and bring them to the Putnam County Jail," police wrote.

It wasn't immediately clear how the furry street fighters got loose.

BAN BOOZE AT WORK BASHES!

(...who's going to tell Boris?)

KILLJOYS insist bosses should limit BOOZE at work bashes to prevent people from acting inappropriately towards others.

And snowflake workers aged 16-30 are in the lead, demanding that work social events are not piss ups!

The Chartered Management Institute (CMI) has released a new poll, suggesting a third of managers have seen harassment or inappropriate behaviour at parties.

The CMI's boss says alcohol "doesn't need to be the main event" at dos.

The CMI surveyed 1,000 managers at the end of April.

The poll found almost one in three (29%) have witnessed inappropriate behaviour at work parties.

Safeguards

Thirty-three percent of women surveyed said they had seen this behaviour, compared with 26% of men.

Overall, two in five (42%) said work parties should be organised around activities that don't involve alcohol. Younger people, aged between 16 and 34, were most likely to say this.

The chief executive of the CMI, Ann Francke, said that socialising with colleagues is "a great team building opportunity" that many people enjoy.

But she added that managers have a responsibility to keep inappropriate behaviour in check, and to ensure

By MILES PLATTING
neil@sundaysport.co.uk

there are safeguards in place.

"That might mean adding in additional activities alongside the alcohol, limiting the amount of drinks available per person or ensuring that people who are drinking too much are prevented from acting in an inappropriate way towards others."

Alison Loveday, an employment lawyer and business consultant, said many companies now see alcohol-fuelled work parties as "too much of a risk".

"Boozy work parties are the exception rather than the rule today."

"They have become much reduced because there is a realisation that alcohol and lots of people doesn't necessarily go well together," she said.

Boozy work bashes are a central part of British life. Staff at Number 10 under Boris Johnson's premiership enjoyed several when they were banned under COVID rules – including one the night before Prince Philip's funeral.

BEBE Rexha displayed her figure in a plunging black swimsuit, driving fans wild.

The singer, 33, took to Instagram to post for a mirror selfie in the racy ensemble, which also featured a silver clasp at the waist.

Bebe flaunted her stunning shape in the Dolce and Gabbana number as she relaxed on holiday.

One fan said: "I'm a fan of her boobs, not her records. Could not name one if my life depended on it."

FOR bare-bum beauty Adele, one sex partner just isn't enough.

Because the model revealed she's desperate to get frisky with a sexy COUPLE.

And the Middlesex beauty even reckons she'd perform a lesbo sex show for the lucky fella!

Adele, who boasts a perky pair of 32Ds, stripped off in these exclusive shots for Midweek Sport.

She told us: "I had a threesome once, and I really loved it!"

"It was something I did a while ago and I would definitely like to do it again."

"They're just so hot and naughty – I think I'd want to do it with a guy and a girl, so that we could both pleasure the bloke together and then he could take turns with us!"

"We'd put on a bit of a show for him, too."

"Girls are great lovers – they're so soft and sexy... they make me go weak at the knees!"

JUSTIN DUNN'S ROOM 101

WHAT'S ANNOYING HIM THIS WEEK?

Yanks...they really are VERY dim!

ONE of the maddest aspects of the pandemic years was the government's topsy turvy advice on going out.

You'll remember the madness of spraying, cleaning, masking, standing two metres apart – and “eating out to help out” as per Rishi Sunak's instructions.

You had to wear your mask to walk into a bar or restaurant, which you could take off while eating and drinking, but then had to put it back on again to safely walk eight feet to the gents.

And of course, we had the novel idea of a “substantial meal” forced upon us.

That was the bit where the not-at-all nanny state insisted the only way you could go for a pint was if you were forced to pay for food you almost certainly didn't want.

Scoffed

But the thirsty among us went for it anyway, even if it meant pushing uneaten grub around a plate for an hour before it made its way back through the kitchen and into the bins outside.

Nobody was ever able to properly nail down exactly what constituted a “substantial” meal, though.

Until, finally, the humble Scotch egg, tarted up with some lettuce, a napkin, and a fork, became the poster boy of cheapish-but-legally-necessary pub snacks.

During those grim months and years, I bought enough Scotch eggs to last me several lifetimes.

I may even have scoffed a couple of them, too.

But I can't look another one in the face even now. Too soon.

All this is why a story about the Coronation weekend published by the totally anti-British New York Times on Monday really caught my eye.

One of their many exceptionally dreary and ill-informed correspondents had written a colour piece describing the events of the weekend.

The whole article is generally crap, but this next line stood out at me.

Describing how “we” celebrated, the thick Yank, after mopping burger juice from their bulldog jowls, wrote: “They dined on scones, Scotch eggs and breakfast pie.

“Wore gloves and headpieces called fascinators. Or sipped tea or drinks like Buck's Fizzes, a non-alcoholic version of a mimosa.”

Well, where to start? “Breakfast pie”? Hello? What the fk is that? Anyone?

Non-alcoholic “Buck's Fizzes (sic)? This person obviously doesn't know the UK too well. Or even at all.

Bacon butties, actual Bucks Fizz with alcoholic champagne, yes.

“Breakfast pie” (jeez) and dull orange juice, no.

Now, Twitter has had a field day with this story, with most tweets agreeing that the NYT had once again lost its mind.

It's worth mentioning here that the New York Times is essentially the US equivalent of our Britain-hating Guardian.

But its hacks are still mostly Americans, so we know exactly what they will look like and act if we use their kind of like-for-like comparison.

Whooping

They will be 18 stone. Driving a truck while wearing a check shirt and either a baseball cap or cowboy hat.

Spend their weekends lynching people in the South, and looking down on the rest of their own country from the north-east and west coasts.

When not whooping at redneck hoedowns or scorching their throats and brains with moonshine, they're either machine-gunning shopping malls and schools or starting yet more unnecessary wars.

They've got over 330 million compatriots – but out of all of them, the only two people they can find to run their country are two mad pensioners both hurtling towards the joy of incontinence pants.

And as for getting our language – never mind our foodstuffs – wrong, as ever, go waddle on a different sidewalk, fatso. You've already broken this one.

Dream home owner's big snake horror

A WOMAN moving into her new house discovered her dream home was overrun with huge SNAKES.

Amber Hall (above) said that when she bought the four-bed property in Centennial, Colorado, she had no idea it doubled as a snake den.

Amber said that it was one her dogs that made the skin-crawling discovery in the garage while she was still unpacking boxes.

"I came over to see what he was looking at, thinking it was like a spider or something, and there were two little holes and I saw snakes slithering up the wall!"

"Everybody's saying they're some form of garter snake. But they're also giving the caveat that nobody's ever seen a garter snake that big!"

Garter snakes are non-venomous but can strike and bite humans, sometimes causing an allergic reaction.

Amber, 42, said she and her family are afraid to even use the bathroom for fear a snake could pop out of the toilet.

Fact me!

"TINKU" is a festival in Bolivia where people beat each other for two or three days straight.

Missed flight bomb threat

A PISSED off man who missed his flight was taken into custody after he claimed there was a "possible bomb" in his luggage, police said.

The unruly traveller allegedly made the threat at Las Vegas's Harry Reid International Airport, prompting a full armed police response.

He allegedly stated there may be explosives in his luggage aboard the Los Angeles-bound JetBlue flight 879 that he missed, Los Angeles Airport Police said.

Las Vegas police officers arrested the passenger and notified LAX police about the possible threat, which was unfounded.

It's not clear if the passenger has since been charged.

Flight data shows that the plane, which took off 37 minutes late, landed safely in Los Angeles.

As new series hits screens, based on classic movie Fatal Attraction...

BATTLE OF THE BUNNY BOILER BUSTERS

By BARNEY SAMUELS
news@sundaysport.co.uk

IF you can bear the endless adverts, there is a treat for C5 viewers – in the form of a new retelling of the classic Fatal Attraction.

In the new series, Joshua Jackson takes Michael Douglas's role as lawyer Dan Gallagher, with Amanda Peet playing the part of his wife, Beth.

And Lizzy Caplan takes over as the "other woman" Alex Forrest, a role made famous by actress Glenn Close in the movie.

Affair

Back in 1987, the original film made blokes think twice about having an affair and gave us the expression "bunny boiler".

Reviews of the remake have been mixed, with many complaining about the slow pace of the first couple of episodes in the eight-show series.

But what we really need to know is: Who has the best bunny boiler boobs?

Couple: New Dan and Beth

Glenn Close famously showed her chesticles in the original flick and although the sex is not as front and centre in the TV remake, Lizzy does get them out for viewers.

Here at the Midweek Sport, we would, of course, not be so ungentlemanly as to declare who has the best boobs.

So today we print both, so you can make your own minds up.

Now, time to go and check on that rabbit...

AWESOME: Dannii loves her Playboy pics

DANNII: SO PROUD I SHOWED MY BOOBS

Star defends Playboy pics

AUSSIE star Dannii Minogue has defended her decision to appear nude on the cover of Playboy.

The singer and former judge on The X Factor was offered a substantial fee to do the 1995 cover shoot in the wake of her poorly received second album, Get into You.

Dannii, now 51, said: "It was personally empowering to me. I still stand by those photos. I still think it's awesome.

"My son's 12, he and his friends are all on their phones, they'll be googling, pictures will come up – but I still absolutely 100 per cent stand by that as a complete feminist move.

"Anyone can look at those pictures and you can say whatever you want about them. My body, my choice, my space. I controlled everything about the photos, the shoot, everything. And it just made me feel powerful."

She admitted that her father was not happy. "He just hands down said: 'I do not want you to do this. I think this is the worst move that you could make,'" she said.

Commenting on the cover years ago, Dannii said she partly chose to do it because of the breakdown of her marriage: "Most women go to the hairdressers – I did Playboy."

Dannii is hosting the UK's first ever gay dating show, BBC Three's I Kissed a Boy, which begins on Sunday 14 May. She said she is "in shock" that it's the first series of its kind.

THE WORLD FAMOUS AGONY Page

Dear Bexie,

OUR neighbours asked us to keep an eye on their house – and their 18-year-old son – while they were away on holiday.

My husband works nights and one evening I put on a porn DVD. I was fking myself with a dildo when I heard a noise outside. It was the neighbours' son, who was pissed and he'd lost his key.

I went out and told him he could stay at ours and my husband would help him in the morning.

I told him to go in the lounge while I grabbed some drinks, but I realised I'd left the blue film running and the dildo on the sofa!

I rushed back and he was sitting there watching the porno with a thick nine-inch sticking out of his flies, as he wanked himself off.

I straddled him and he pumped furiously until we came to a climax.

But he told his friends and a few have been to see me for sex. What should I do?

JT, Leicester

Bexie says...

SAY no. If your husband found out, there would be hell to pay.

Dear Bexie,

I WAS at a family party the other week and ended up giving my brother-in-law a blowjob in the bathroom.

We've been flirting for some time and we sneaked away when everyone had had too much to drink!

I wrapped my tits around his eight-inch dick and he exploded all over them.

Now my husband suspects something is going on. Any advice?

NJ, Weymouth

Bexie says...

SAY nothing. And give him a blowie – that should calm him.

Blonde escort babe gave me freebie in hotel room

Dear Bexie,

AS a sales rep for a big company I spend a lot of time on the road – and too many nights away from my missus.

I always stay in decent hotels and until recently I had never cheated on her.

But a few weeks ago I found myself talking to a sophisticated blonde, flashing just the right amount of cleavage at the hotel bar.

We had a few drinks and got on so well that we ended up in my room – after she suggested we take a bottle of wine upstairs with us to "carry on chatting".

But after she poured us both just one small glass of vino, she was on me like a rat up a drainpipe!

She had clearly done this sort of caper before and immediately took the lead.

First she peeled off her top to let me tweak her stiff nipples.

Then I slipped my hand inside her wet panties and she pulled out my throbbing cock and gave me an expert blowjob.

Next we went over to the bed and I slipped her damp knickers down, stuffing my tongue up her dripping minge as I did.

Finally, she grabbed my pulsating whanger, bent over and guided me into her love-box from behind.

I banged her daft – front and back – before shooting my wad over her pert bum-cheeks.

After she left, though, I found she had left her business card – and discovered she works for an escort agency.

So not only did I cheat on the wife but I did it with a whore – who didn't charge me!

What's that all about?

DK, Lincoln

Bexie says...

PUT it down as a freebie and treat your wife to a nice night out with the money that you saved yourself.

AGONY IS BROUGHT TO YOU IN ASSOCIATION

WELCOME to the World famous Sport Agony page! No other newspaper's agony aunts can offer the level of advice – or experience – than our own Agony Angels! This week BEXIE WILLIAMS has been reading through your letters. And here's her advice for you...

Neighbours' dirty vid led to a swinging time

Dear Bexie,

I FIND myself in a dilemma because I've been shagging my neighbour's wife.

She loves me to fk her while I get quite a kick out of as well.

The problem arose after her hubby invited me and my wife round for drinks.

After we'd been chatting a while, he put a video on. To my horror, it showed me and his missus getting down to it in their bedroom a couple of days earlier.

He must have been hiding in the wardrobe to film me banging his wife while dressed in her lingerie.

Stripped

But I got an even bigger surprise when I glanced sheepishly over at my wife.

She didn't seem at all shocked – even as she saw her neighbour inserting a small vibrator up my arse while I screwed her.

I felt sure she'd kick off big-style, but instead she just wanted to know why she had not been invited to take part in our sex games.

We all got pissed and the upshot was that we decided to indulge in some partner-swapping.

My wife didn't need encouragement and was soon stripped to her briefs, through which you could see her damp, hairy minge.

Before I knew it both my neighbours were on her, with the woman licking out my missus as she sucked on the bloke's fat prick.

When he'd shot his hot spunk over her face, I got my dick in her gob and she sucked me off while the neighbour's wife licked my balls.

As this was going on, the neighbour was banging away at my missus from behind.

Then they told me to dress up in my wife's undies and get it on with the wife, just like on the video.

My neighbour began filming my wife, who was thrusting a vibrator up her juicy twat.

I spunked over the neighbour's tits and my wife licked it up.

We indulged in all sorts of sexual cravings and tried out a variety of positions for a good few hours.

It was a great night and we're planning to do it again.

My missus is obviously turned on by what happened and she can't wait to go back for more.

But I fear this sexual awakening has altered my wife's thinking, because she now wants me to wear lingerie under my ordinary clothes.

I've refused because it seems she wants to take what I've considered a harmless fetish a bit too far.

But she keeps persisting with the idea and has even gone as far as to accuse me of being unreasonable.

What do you say?

SL, London

Bexie says...

THERE are all sorts of potential pitfalls when married couples turn into swingers. But your dilemma is not a common one – your wife IS being unreasonable.

Dear Bexie,

I THINK I have become addicted to sex.

I'm a blonde 32-year-old barmaid with 34DD tits and I get loads of attention.

I'm game for all manner of sex and I love sucking cock.

But I recently had my first shag with two blokes – and I'm convinced that's turned me into a nympho.

Since then, I've found myself wanting more and more thrills with groups of fellas.

Last week I went with six blokes who had been in the pub and I invited them back to my place.

I was determined to satisfy all six at the same time and I had a dick in my arse, one in my fanny and two in my mouth while I wanked the other two off.

It was fantastic watching them all explode virtually together.

I swallowed loads of cum and I could feel spunk dribbling down my thighs.

But that's still not enough for me. This weekend I'm meeting these blokes again and two more of their mates.

Do you think my behaviour is OK, or does the fact that I'm about to have it off with eight men mean I'm abnormal?

HK, Wiltshire

Bexie says...

EIGHT is a bit excessive. And have you also thought about the health risks? Take precautions.

Kinky romps with daughter's best pal

Dear Bexie,

MY daughter's best friend is a very tasty 21-year-old student, with a cracking body.

A couple of months ago I was out in town when I bumped into her. We had a few drinks and she made it obvious she was up for a shag.

I couldn't take my eyes off her big tits and, to my shame, ended up giving her one at her house, as her parents were away on a trip.

She stripped off to just her tiny black thong. I was instantly hard and she leapt on my eight-incher, sucking it expertly until I shot my load on her boobs.

I took off her thong and licked her bald, wet slot. She was moaning and told me that she likes older men to give her a "good fking".

Spanking

I pounded into her for 15 minutes. After I had come she sucked me to hardness again and I did her for a second time.

We now have sex at least twice a week and it's brilliant. Last week she dressed up as a nurse and told me to tie her up, give her arse a good spanking and then fk her.

The trouble is, she now wants me to leave my wife and get a place with her – so that we can shag whenever we want.

There's no chance of that. What do I do?

TM, Birmingham

Bexie says...

END this fast and pray she doesn't spill the beans.

SEXY Sky Bee has a VEY active imagination.

The 32D cracker from Bristol said: "My most outrageous sex fantasy is any form of naughty action with a red-hot stranger."

"I'm a very sexual person, but in real life I tend to be picky and look for relationships, so I don't often hop into bed with a bloke."

"Which is why I fantasise like mad about throwing caution to the wind and getting it on quickly with a total random."

"I masturbate and watch porn movies focussed on quick, easy, slutty sex – gangbangs, dogging, and the ones where a taxi driver picks a girl up and they go at it in a layby."

"I've never done anything that extreme in real life, but I once pulled a guy in a shop when I nipped in for a bottle of wine and fooled about with him down an alleyway!"

Veronica VANOZA

VERONICA Vanoza has been modelling since she was just 18 – and when she hit 23 she decided to move into making filthy, X-rated movies.

The Prague-born star said: “I have 32D boobs and always liked the way men were fascinated by them.

“Then I learned that blokes were even more fascinated if my huge breasts were splattered with lots and lots of hot, sticky spunk!

“I do a lot of titty-fk movies, and I love rubbing freshly-milked semen into my nipples – making them go all stiff.

“I also enjoy hard anal sex. That makes my boobs swing and I usually squirt when I am fked anally.

“I want to show off my boobs in all their glory for as long as I can.”

Waipro gets a kick out of Derby trial

WAIPRO is a possible for the Lingfield Derby Trial after his Newmarket bid was scuppered on the way to the start.

The Ed Walker-trained Australia colt, who is a half-brother to Hong Kong hero Waikuku, was set to be an intriguing runner at HQ after a taking seasonal debut over course and distance late last month.

The Listed Newmarket Stakes was an intended stepping stone to the Betfred Derby – but Waipro was unable to compete as rival runner Forca Timao kicked out on the way to the start and struck the arm of jockey Tom Marquand.

Marquand sustained a wound that required stitches and he was forced to step down, causing the withdrawal of Waipro.

Marquand is healing having escaped any broken bones and Walker reports the horse to be none the worse as the blow did not reach him.

Lingfield will now be an alternative outing, though his trainer is conscious of ground conditions and will monitor the going throughout the week.

"He's absolutely fine, unfortunately for Tom he took the blow," he said.

"It's obviously a real pain for us because Lingfield looks like it's going to be on soft ground now and that (Newmarket) was the right spot for him."

"It's frustrating, but he's well and he's being trained for Lingfield at the moment."

"I'd run him on good to soft but I wouldn't run him on soft, so it'll be dependent on which way things go this week."

Waipro is one of 14 contenders for the near 12-furlong contest, with Charlie Appleby's Military Order the headline act following his effortless return in a Newbury novice event last month.

He is a general 6-1 shot for Epsom and could be joined by Listed-winning stablemate Noble Dynasty, although he holds an alternative entry in Thursday's Dee Stakes at Chester.

TRAINER: Walker

Gooloogong, a 33-1 chance for the premier Classic, and Bertinelli could represent Aidan O'Brien.

Newmarket Stakes second Circle Of Fire could make a swift return, while Laafi, Artistic Star and Ndaawi also feature.

Ralph Beckett's Bluestocking made a splash on her only juvenile start and is generally available at 14-1 for Epsom ahead of her possible return in the Oaks Trial Fillies' Stakes.

A Juddmonte-owned daughter of Camelot out of Group One winner Emulous, Bluestocking beat the colts in style on her debut in a Salisbury novice heat in September.

Karl Burke's Fillies' Mile third Bright Diamond is among the 14 entries along with Sunset Point and Eternal Hope for the Appleby team and O'Brien's pair of Be Happy and Lambada.

Joseph O'Brien has a strong potential team for the Group Three Chartwell Fillies' Stakes with Agatha, American Kestrel and Honey Girl mounting a three-strong challenge.

Previous Group-race winners Sacred and Sandrine also feature, for William Haggas and Andrew Balding respectively.

ALL THE TOP TIPS FOR TODAY'S RACING

SAVETHELASTDANCE can book her Epsom ticket with victory in the Weatherbys Digital Solutions Cheshire Oaks on the opening day of Chester's May Festival.

Beaten nearly 10 lengths on her debut in a Thurles maiden towards the end of last year, few would have thought then this daughter of Galileo would be heading the Betfred Oaks market come the spring.

Sent off a 20-1 shot on her seasonal bow at Leopardstown last month, Savethelastdance made a mockery of that price as she comfortably accounted for the Ballydoyle first string Boogie Woogie by two and a quarter lengths.

Alarm

Admittedly she benefitted from an excellent Wayne Lordan ride, racing prominently and stealing a march, but none of her rivals ever looked like reeling her back in.

The form has worked out well too, with Boogie Woogie winning her maiden by upwards of five lengths while the third, Azazat, was a Leopardstown winner on

WEDNESDAY'S TIPS

Sunday. Moving up to just shy of 12 furlongs rings no alarm bells and Savethelastdance can take this Listed step in her stride on the way to a Classic date next month.

Arrest is another whose form bears close scrutiny and he should again be too good for Adelaide River in the Boodles Chester Vase.

The pair finished second and third behind Dubai Mile in the Group One Criterion de Saint-Cloud last year, with Arrest beaten just a head while Adelaide River was a further six lengths adrift, leaving him plenty to find on the face of it.

The ground was incredibly testing that day, so perhaps too little an interpretation would be dangerous, but nevertheless Arrest had shown plenty of ability before, chasing home Nostrum at the first attempt before beating Desert Order and Sea Of Roses in his next two starts.

Desert Order has won twice since while Sea Of Roses beat Oaks contender Infinite Cosmos next time and placed in Group Three company on her return this year, giving the John and Thady Gosden-trained runner another nice little boost.

DangerAlert's All-Weather Finals Day run was too bad to be true and he can be given another chance in the Tote £100K Guaranteed Placepot Every Day Handicap.

Winner of two of his eight starts since joining George Boughey, he has also finished second four times and he was certainly not unfancied in the finale of the three-year-old division on the all weather.

However, he trailed home last of nine after starting slowly, with his team unable to offer any excuses.

Bounce

That looked a strong race, with runner-up Shouldvebeenaring taking Listed glory at Newmarket last week while third-placed The X O was only beaten a length and a half in the Group Three Commonwealth Cup Trial at Ascot.

Back in handicap company, Danger Alert can bounce back.

Ziggy's Dream can make it two from two in the Caa Stellar Lily Agnes Conditions Stakes after triumphing as favourite on her first start at Doncaster.

Trois Vallees should appreciate stepping back up to six furlongs in the Unibet More Boosts In More Races Fillies' Handicap at Kempton after finding five a shade too sharp on her debut for Charlie Fellowes.

Over the jumps at Kelso, Bollinger and Krug's supporters should be raising a glass after the Bedmax Handicap Chase.

He rarely runs a bad race at the track and should appreciate quicker ground than when last seen in March.

KEV DESERVED TO SEE RED

Proctor author of own downfall says Wakey boss

WAKEFIELD coach Mark Applegarth had no qualms with prop Kevin Proctor's dismissal in their 32-18 defeat by Warrington at the Halliwell Jones Stadium.

The scores were locked at 12-12 as Trinity were going toe-to-toe with the high-flying Wolves when Proctor was shown the red card by referee Marcus Griffiths 13 minutes into the second half for a high tackle on Warrington full-back Josh Thewlis.

And the Wolves made their extra man tell as Matty Ashton scored twice and George Williams also touched down as Warrington returned to winning ways and the top of Super League after successive defeats to Wigan and St Helens.

Applegarth said: "The pivotal moment was the red card – you can't play a quality team like Warrington with 12 men and expect to come away with a victory.

"There was no malice in it but he has mistimed it and slipped up and caught him high. We've no qualms with the red card.

"I was proud of the performance, it was a gutsy effort and they have kept on fighting til the end against one of the contenders in difficult circumstances.

RUGBY LEAGUE By JACK FARLEY

"Warrington got off to a fast start going 12-0 up but our lads fronted up really well and fought their way back into the game and it was an even game at half-time.

"Now we have a few bodies back you can see the spirit in the squad and there's plenty of positives to take out of the performance I would say."

The Wolves moved back to the top of Super League with their victory but coach Daryl Powell admitted his side needed to be a lot better.

Powell said: "Give credit to Wakefield they worked really hard to get back in the game after we started how we wanted to and went 12-0 up.

Energy

"We clocked off mentally and defensively we shut down and started making errors and let them back into the game and at 12-12 we were far too loose defensively.

"The red card was a big deciding factor in the game when it gave us the numerical advantage.

"But we never really got any fluency in the game and there was a drop off in energy and concentration but we got the win and the two points and you don't win every game like you would like to.

"It was important we got back on track and we did that without being as good as we wanted to be.

"We want to be a ruthless team and at the moment we aren't and we will be disappointed with that performance and we won't be winning next week playing like that, that's for certain."

SALE CHIEF: Sanderson

Sale like look of England hooker Luke

RUGBY UNION

SALE boss Alex Sanderson has admitted his interest in bringing England hooker Luke Cowan-Dickie to the club amid reports his move to Montpellier has fallen through.

The 29-year-old Exeter forward was due to join the Top 14 club this summer, but reports from France have suggested the deal has broken down on medical grounds with Cowan-Dickie working his back from ankle surgery.

Montpellier have been linked with Tolu Latu and director of rugby Sanderson revealed he had heard the Australia international had agreed a deal for "twice the amount of money we offered him".

Asked if he would be interested in Cowan-Dickie, he said: "Yes, why wouldn't you? He's a great player.

"I don't know if we would be in the right price point, but he's got mates up here as well, he fits our kind of game model in that Ewan Ashman, Akker van de Merwe mould, doesn't he? He's a banger, so he ticks the box on a lot of fronts there.

"But I haven't spoken to him, I haven't spoken to Luke, so there's nothing there in terms of that actually materialising."

In the meantime, Sanderson will concentrate on the task of preparing his players for Sunday's Gallagher Premiership semi-final clash with reigning champions Leicester and to that end, has enlisted the help of rugby league great Jamie Peacock.

Peacock won nine Super League Grand Finals, four Challenge Cup finals and four World Club

Challenges during his glittering playing career, and Sanderson is hoping his "champion attitude" will rub off on his charges.

He said: "We've got JP coming in, who'll have a chat about what champion attitude looks like.

"He was a legend, so we'll hopefully take a leaf out of his book and add it to our own."

Sale have proven winners George Ford, who was in the Tigers side which lifted the trophy last season, and Manu Tuilagi.

Asked how important it could be, he said: "It's crucial, isn't it, because these are leaders who come to the fore at this time of the season.

"There are guys that have to step up on the field and are able to keep their heads and respond."

SAINTS IN REAL STRUGGLE

ST HELENS coach Paul Wellens admits his side are "under the cosh" after Catalans Dragons fought back to inflict a fifth defeat of the season on the reigning Super League champions.

Saints raced into a 12-0 lead in Perpignan thanks to tries from Alex Walmsley and Jack Welsby but could not contain a Catalans side that responded with 24 unanswered points to claim victory.

Tries from Arthur Mourgue, Matt Ikuvalu on debut and Tom Davies (two) were enough for the Dragons to seal the win and leave

FORMULA ONE

Wellens searching for answers.

He said: "We've got to give Catalans credit, they played with real effort and intensity. At the same time we were massive contributors to our own downfall, particularly around the way we attacked.

"We came with a plan to have a bit of ball movement but as the game went on we became a little reckless and started to throw passes that were almost Hail Marys and started to chance things that weren't there.

"It was out of character for us and a very frustrating night all in all.

He added: "We are under the cosh a bit at the moment and we can't just play our way out of trouble.

"Sometimes you have to take the tough carries, kick long and chase your defence, they are the things that have made this team so successful in recent times."

Boosted by the return of Walmsley and Tommy Makinson, Saints weathered a Catalans storm to seemingly take control during the first half at Stade Gilbert Brutus.

But a Dragons side who had lost four of their previous five games roared back to level at 12-12 by the end of the half before going on to claim a 24-12 victory.

Catalans coach Steve McNamara was delighted.

He said: "I have spoken about the French side's heavy defeat against England and the three games we lost running into this match.

"It was a very difficult moment for rugby league in France so it was so important for the game here that we had a great performance and I'm very happy with that.

"I hope we put some pride back into rugby league here."

Kompany can't wait to take his Clarets up

VINNY PLEDGES FUTURE TO BURNLEY AFTER PROMOTION

VINCENT Kompany ended Burnley's title-winning season with a 3-0 home victory over Cardiff and revealed why he chose to sign a new five-year contract at the Premier League-bound club.

The former Manchester City captain led the post-match celebrations and Championship trophy presentation having steered his club back to the top flight – where he intends to have “a bit of fun”.

It marked a remarkable first season in English management for the Belgian who was appointed following the Clarets' relegation 12 months ago.

The final-day win came 24 hours after the highly-rated 37-year-old signed a new five-year contract that could keep him in charge at Turf Moor until 2028.

Kompany's efforts have attracted the interest of potential suitors, with Chelsea the latest to be linked with interest in him.

“I still had three or four years left and it's not something I went chasing but there is a pragmatic reason for signing the new deal,” said Kompany.

“For my pathway, this is the right decision, but it helps when we try and recruit players.

By WES DERBY

“When I'm trying to convince a player to come here it's easier just after I have signed a new deal.

“We have had a massive advantage planning for next season, because we have known about promotion of a long time.

“But we were going to lose that if people were waiting for me to come out with a statement.”

On a day of rain-soaked celebrations at Turf Moor, former NFL legend JJ Watt, who this week became a minority owner in the club, carried the Championship trophy onto the field for its presentation to Kompany and his players.

The win saw Burnley hit the century mark in points, their 101 the highest recorded by any team in the division since Leicester won the league with one more, in 2014.

And it summed up a dominant campaign for a Burnley team who lost just one of their final 26 games and were beaten only three times over the entire league campaign, winning promotion with seven games to spare.

“We faced doubt at the beginning of this season and it will be the same next season,” said Kompany.

“It's for us to use that to rally around. It starts now. The goal for me next year is to make our fans proud and have a bit of fun in the Premier League.”

The final-day win was also a fitting send-off for veteran striker Ashley Barnes, after nearly a decade at Turf Moor.

He struck after 31 minutes when Josh Brownhill's cross was met by Cardiff defender Mahlon Romeo who simply chested the ball into the path of Barnes to bury an excellent first-time finish.

The visitors, who ended the season five points above the relegation zone, also contributed to Burnley's opening goal, four minutes earlier.

Defender Andy Rinomhota kept the ball in play, as he tried to dispossess Anass Zaroury, by pushing it into his area with his hands.

That enabled Zaroury to cross the ball for Brownhill to score from close range, despite Cardiff protests.

Scott Twine wrapped up the scoring on 58 minutes when he lodged a superbly-hit right-foot free-kick from the edge of the box into the Cardiff net.

Cardiff manager Sabri Lamouchi is set to meet club owner Vincent Tan to thrash out his and the club's future direction.

“We saw the big gap between them and us,” he said. “It's about small details; experience, quality. Everything is on the table and we just need to know what the club and the owner want to do.”

FUMING FOXES BOSS STUNNED

DEAN Smith admitted he did not see Leicester's poor first-half performance coming as they were beaten 5-3 by Fulham at Craven Cottage to plunge them deeper into relegation trouble.

The visitors were overrun before the break by Marco Silva's side, with Leicester – porous and disorganised in defence – allowing Fulham to rip into them and build a three-goal lead by half-time.

By PAUL THOMAS

William and Tom Cairney both hit braces either side of the interval whilst Carlos Vinicius also netted to affirm the home side's dominance, with two second-half goals from Harvey Barnes and a James Maddison penalty lending a respectability to the score that did not reflect Leicester's frailties.

It leaves Smith's side in serious danger of being relegated from the Premier League with three games remaining, and he said: "The game was lost in the first half."

"The performance in the first half was nowhere near what it has been and what the players can produce."

"I'm disappointed because I didn't see that coming. We'd had a good week in training, good attitude, good application, good quality."

"I expected a far better performance and a better start to the game than we got. At this level, if you give the kind of goals away that we gave away it's going to be an uphill battle."

"I don't like basketball games, I don't think it suits us given the fact we haven't kept a clean sheet for so long."

"It was far too easy to get into our penalty box and create chances."

It ended a three-game unbeaten run for Leicester which had seen them rise to 16th, but with only a point separating four threatened sides at the start of play the Foxes could ill afford to make the kind of start the travelling fans witnessed.

They now face an uphill struggle in their final three games against Liverpool, Newcastle and West Ham if they are to avoid dropping into the Championship for the first time since 2014.

Victory

"I can't talk for the players but what I saw on the training ground this week, I thought we would be ready for this game. But the game was never going to be a given, any game is tough."

"I believe there is enough quality to survive. There are signs I had seen prior to the first half that they're good enough."

"The first half certainly was a step backwards, the second half was a step forwards again. We have to make sure we put in a 90-minute performance next week."

Fulham boss Silva felt the two-goal margin of victory for his side did not represent the gulf in class between the teams.

"We were the best team on the pitch, no doubt about it," he said. "We should have won this game much more comfortably. Great moments of football, great goals. From the first minute we were the team that started to command."

HAPPY WARNOCK RETIRES ON A WIN

NEIL Warnock hailed Huddersfield's "unbelievable" final points tally of 53 after overseeing a 2-0 Championship win over relegated Reading in his last match before returning to retirement.

The Terriers' great escape from the drop was confirmed courtesy of last week's victory over Sheffield United, with the triumph – the seventh under Warnock's charge – the cherry on the top for the 74-year-old.

Prospective American owner Kevin M Nagle was at the John Smith's Stadium for the match, with the points secured by stunning second-half goals from Josh Koroma and substitute Joseph Hungbo. Koroma broke the deadlock after 49 minutes before Watford loanee Hungbo came off the bench to seal matters six minutes from time.

"I was pleased I could leave him a Championship club," said Warnock, whose side ended the campaign in 18th spot, nine points clear of the relegation zone.

"I wanted to finish on a win and to get 53 points is unbelievable."

"These times you have to treasure. I told the players that because they don't come along very often."

"You would have thought we had got promotion to the Premier League, with the crowd. You can't tell me it would have been any more vociferous."

"But the fans know what a job it has been to turn it round. To see everyone stay behind at the end, I can't put it into words."

Asked what he might be doing when the Championship kicks off again next season, the veteran suggested he might be watching League One champions Plymouth.

"It is great because me and my daughter go to all the home matches," he said. "If Plymouth play Huddersfield first match, I might be watching Huddersfield again."

"I can sit down, have a nice meal, a nice glass of wine, no pressure, no worry about substitutions, get driven home... it's perfect... until February."

Huddersfield fans pleaded for one more year from Warnock, but he said: "You can't do this for 10 months."

"I hate the motorways, I hate the hotels, I don't need that at my age. But I don't mind for 10-12 weeks!"

Noel Hunt, who could not mastermind a win during his tenure as interim Reading boss, admitted his own future remains unsure but reckons the future is bright for the Royals despite relegation.

"I have not even thought about it," the Irishman responded when asked if he would like the role permanently. "As far as I was told, this was until the end of the season and then who knows?"

"I was pretty sure I was probably going back to the under-23s. But I have not had that conversation. So your guess is as good as mine."

HAPPY: Sean Dyche

Future's Bright for Toffees

EVERTON boss Sean Dyche insisted his side never doubted themselves after a thumping 5-1 Premier League victory over Brighton lifted the Toffees two points clear of the relegation zone.

It was Everton's first away league win in 14 attempts and could not have come at a more opportune time, with just three matches now remaining to secure their top-flight safety.

Abdoulaye Doucoure's strike after 34 seconds laid down what retrospectively ultimately felt like an emphatic opening statement as both he and Dwight McNeil went on to scores braces on either side of the half.

Dyche said: "People will be out there thinking right, OK, there's life in that team but we've never lost sight of that.

"It just reminds the players that their work ethic, their commitment to the cause, their commitment to the group is really important because I know there's quality.

"I've always believed there's quality. I've said it many times, but talking about it doesn't win you a game.

"It's the collective mentality to go and deliver everything you've got.

"We were very frustrated not to come away with all three points (against Leicester) but we got a reward for carrying on that mentality in their performances tonight."

Doucoure netted his second when he volleyed the ball home after 29 minutes before McNeil's cross further buried Brighton, with it deflecting off Jordan Steele, who had stooped to save but instead felt the ball bounce off the back of his leg and in.

Alexis Mac Allister clawed one back before McNeil's first but the Brighton burial was not complete until McNeil fired home the visitors' fifth in the embers of second-half stoppage-time.

Victory meant Dyche's side are safe for the time being, with league leaders Manchester City up next followed by encounters with Wolves and Bournemouth.

"They're very high feeling the feel-good factor," he added. "But it's only another step. I said that after Arsenal, and sometimes people forget that. There's three more big steps we've got to take."

GLOVEMAN GETS PLAUDITS ALONG

ALISSON AS VITAL AS SALAH

Van Dijk pays tribute to Kop goalie as Brazilian brings up 100 clean sheets

MOHAMED Salah's 100th goal at Anfield – among other achievements – grabbed the headlines but Liverpool defender Virgil van Dijk believes goalkeeper Alisson Becker is more than worthy of similar recognition.

Salah's solitary strike took the Reds past Brentford at the weekend to maintain the Reds' unlikely push for the Champions League but the 1-0 win was only possible because Alisson brought up a century of clean sheets in the game.

In a disappointing season Alisson has been the club's most consistent player, even taking into account Salah reaching 30 goals for the campaign for the fourth time in six years.

Van Dijk, who has not been

By PAUL THOMAS

immune from the struggles which have affected the whole side, recognises that.

"He's an example for a lot of players, especially goalkeepers. I'm very glad that he's my goalkeeper and we have been very successful," said the Netherlands captain.

"Obviously on the pitch his qualities are there for everyone to see – his contribution, the saves, the leadership, that's all very important – but away from the pitch is just as important, the qualities he has.

"He is a big, big leader in the group and someone a lot of players look up to.

"Obviously 100 clean sheets is for him a big moment and hopefully there are many more to come."

Liverpool, who are in talks with former Wolfsburg sporting director Jorg Schmadtke to replace the departing Julian Ward, recorded back-to-back Premier League clean sheets for the first time in two months – when they had three in a row – and only the fifth occasion in the whole campaign.

Much of that poor record has been down to how the team defends and not Alisson's performances, which have been generally better than the rest of the squad overall.

Feeling

Van Dijk accepts those failings but believes they have finally started to iron out their issues.

"He is the one who has the highest risk factor in the team as well, if he makes a mistake then it's a goal," he added.

"It's the whole doing it together type of feeling that we feel we have. That's the basis.

"He would probably say that without the boys in front of him and the midfielders and strikers doing their work, this (100 clean sheets) would not be possible. Everyone is part of it, but he should definitely be proud of it.

"The last couple of games, the commitment we have shown and the reaction when we lost the ball is very important.

"It's important to get the ball back, win challenges, and while there's still room for improvement, winning six games in a row is something that has been unheard of this season.

"But let's just keep going and enjoy the moment and take it into next season."

Dutch master Van Dijk could not, however, fail to recognise the enduring excellence of Salah, who has drawn level with Steven Gerrard as the club's joint-fifth all-time goalscorer on 186.

It is the Egypt international's relentlessness which sets him apart from most of his contemporaries, having been available for a remarkable 97 per cent of all Premier League and Champions League matches since he joined the club in 2017.

"He is doing it consistently, even when we are struggling he has still found a way to be important for the team," said the Dutchman.

"Being consistent every three or four days, you can have games where you don't score but you can reach that level, and also staying fit that's the most difficult thing to do.

"People don't really speak about those kind of things too much, but maybe we should."

Important

On top of that, his numbers speak for themselves.

In the world we live in nowadays, maybe the respect comes after he has stopped playing.

"But I don't think he cares about that anyway. He just wants to keep doing what he's doing and be important for the club in the future."

Salah said of his record in a red shirt: "It means a lot to me. I said before, I feel at home here, I'm happy.

"It's something that makes me proud, to be fair. I work really hard and everybody knows that, everybody sees that.

"I'm motivated to keep breaking records and just scoring goals and winning games for the team."

Manager Jurgen Klopp has run out of ways to describe the 30-year-old's continued excellence during their time together at the club.

"The numbers he creates, we all know that after his career he will be seen as one of the all-time greats, that's clear," said the Reds boss.

"But now he is still in the career and some people might not appreciate him enough, but we do.

"He deserves all the praise he gets and he will get even more after his career, that's how it is, because in a club with the all-time greats we had in the past, being the first one who scores in nine consecutive home games is super-special."

ANGE TAKES SHACKLES OFF

CELTIC manager Ange Postecoglou hinted his team could play with more freedom now they have wrapped up the title.

They have a treble to play for with a Scottish Cup final against Inverness to come on June 3.

They also have the chance to set a new Scottish top-flight points record of 107 – beating Brendan Rodgers' Invincibles team of 2017 by a point – if they win their final four matches.

Postecoglou said: "We have got an opportunity to have a special season. There are still four games in the league and we have a final to look forward to."

"I think the last three or four weeks we have been playing pretty tight in terms of emotionally."

"The boys knew they were close to achieving something special and the closer you get, it's human nature that you tighten up a bit."

HEND FOR DE GEA

Deano Reds No1 next season

UNITED'S FUTURE:
Dean Henderson

MANCHESTER United boss Erik Ten Hag will put his faith in Dean Henderson next season.

The England gloveman has been on loan at Nottingham Forest where he has impressed for the strugglers.

Hag over a new contract as his deal expires at the end of this month.

But he will only stay at Old Trafford if he's No1. De Gea has been rock solid for the Red Devils but the 32-year-old has made the odd howler this season – including a costly blunder against Brighton. Ten Hag is known to be frustrated with his keeper's kicking ability and is likely to make a change between the sticks.

If not, he'll lose Henderson and have to fork out big money for other targets like Brentford's David Raya who is also on the Dutchman's radar.

De Gea is also out of contract this summer and would like to stay at United as none of the Spanish clubs can match his £375,000 a week wages.
